Mme. Ghandi's Court Used The Rule Of Expediency

Indira Ghandi who has been a showpiece in the feminist movement for the past ten years demonstrated last week she has what it takes to be the unquestioned ruler of half a billion or more people in her native India.

Back in June a trial court in her home city of Allahabad ruled she violated the nation's constitutional prohibition against government officials electioneering for candidates to parliament.

She defeated an outspoken opponent for the parliamentary seat in 1971. Unabashedly she imported several high placed members in the officialdom to expound her virtues and to smear the opposition.

The loser and his friends eventually succeeded in having the case prosecuted through the courts.

The guilty verdict carried a mandatory ban on her holding elective office for six years. The ultimate effect would oust her as prime minister since the constitution specifies only a member of parliament can hold the country's highest office.

Mme. Ghandi immediately appealed the ruling to the Indian supreme court which stayed execution of the sentence but denied her right to vote in parliament until a decision was reached on the appeal.

Fortunately for Mme. Ghandi, her political opponents jumped the gun by announcing a civil disobedience campaign to force her resignation. She promptly declared a national emergency, jailed the important opposition leaders, and suspended most civil liberties guaranteed by the constitu-

The high court obligingly dallied, taking the appeal under consideration. The justices did not convene for the initial arguments on the appeal until August, and several days before the court announced a time for opening debate the Congress party's overwhelming majority in parliament adopted some constitutional amendments to wipe out the conviction.

While the ruling in one respect is a moral slap on the wrist it accomplishes the desired result for the prime minister.

It also says India is a democracy when it suits the convenience of its political chieftains.

Quite plainly the justices realized Mme. Ghandi would not accept their sustaining the trial judge; that she would clap them in jail had they ruled adversely to her position.

It is equally clear the justices recognized the awkward fact that Mme. Ghandi is still the surest bet to hold together the country's extremely fragile economic-political framework beset as it is by the Red Chinese military on the northern borders, a busybody communist minority at home, an utterly incompent bureaucracy, and a poverty level which has to rank among the world's most crippling.

'All You Do Is Pull The Trigger'

Gulf Oil Lobbyist Claims He 'Delivered The Mail'

WASHINGTON (AP) - A number of politicians or their aides received hand-delivered envelopes from a Gulf Oil Corp. lobbyist and in at least two cases the evelopes contained cash, government records show.

According to the documents, the lobbyist told federal investigators he made a series of cross-country trips during a 14year period and gave the envelopes to politicians, aides and Gulf officials.

Frederick A. Myers, in a deposition to the Securities and Exchange Commission, said he made deliveries under orders from Gulf's former top lobbyist, Claude C. Wild Jr., to officials or their aides in offices, airports, hotel rooms and behind a barn.

He said he also made several trips-each year to Capitol Hill to hand-deliver sealed envelopes. Myers said he had no idea what was in them, except in two cases where he saw them opened and they contained cash. He said he neither asked about nor was told their purpose.

A spokesman for the Pittsburgh-based oil firm said Gulf assumes that all contributions discussed in the deposition came from either a legal fund or a previously disclosed illegal fund of $10.3 million.

He added, "Gulf believes it is unfortunate that the reputations of the recipients of contributions may be tarnished by the public disclosure without regard to whether or not the recipient had knowledge of the contribution or the legality of the funds."

Among those who received the envelops personally, Myers alleged, were Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev.; former Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla.; and former Sen. D. Edwin Mechem, R-N.M., all in 1964; former Kansas Gov. William Avery in 1966; former Rep. Richard L.

Bush has held importantsounding jobs, at the United Nations and as the first U.S. representative in China. But they have all been basically public relations tasks, involving more ceremonial duties than policy-making or administration. Similarly, Rumsfeld looks good on paper but has had scant experience making tough major decisions (if you believe the President when he insists he alone decides the big ones, not his staff). The importance of being Ambassador to NATO, Rumsfeld's job before he came to the White House can be seen in the fact it was offered to CIA Director William Colby when he was fired - and Colby turned it

Mme. Ghandi's Court Used The Rule Of Expediency

Indira Ghandi who has been a showpiece in the feminist movement for the past ten years demonstrated last week she has what it takes to be the unquestioned ruler of half a billion or more people in her native India.

Back in June a trial court in her home city of Allahabad ruled she violated the nation's constitutional prohibition against government officials electioneering for candidates to parliament.

She defeated an outspoken opponent for the parliamentary seat in 1971. Unabashedly she imported several high placed members in the officialdom to expound her virtues and to smear the opposition.

The loser and his friends eventually succeeded in having the case prosecuted through the courts.

The guilty verdict carried a mandatory ban on her holding elective office for six years. The ultimate effect would oust her as prime minister since the constitution specifies only a member of parliament can hold the country's highest office.

Mme. Ghandi immediately appealed the ruling to the Indian supreme court which stayed execution of the sentence but denied her right to vote in parliament until a decision was reached on the appeal.

Fortunately for Mme. Ghandi, her political opponents jumped the gun by announcing a civil disobedience campaign to force her resignation. She promptly declared a national emergency, jailed the important opposition leaders, and suspended most civil liberties guaranteed by the constitu-

The high court obligingly dallied, taking the appeal under consideration. The justices did not convene for the initial arguments on the appeal until August, and several days before the court announced a time for opening Congress overwhelming majority in parliament adopted some constitutional amendments to wipe out the conviction.

A few days ago a special panel from the court upheld the retroactive while the ruling in one respect is a moral slap on the wrist it ac-complishes the desired result for the prime minister.

It also says India is a democracy when it suits the convenience of its political chieftains.

Quite plainly the justices realized Mme. Ghandi would not accept their sustaining the trial judge; that she would clap them in jail had they ruled adversely to her position.

It is equally clear the justices recognized the awkward fact that Mme. Ghandi is still the surest bet to hold together the country's extremely fragile economic-political framework beset as it is by the Red Chinese military on the northern borders, a busybody communist minority at home, an utterly incompent bureaucracy, and a poverty level which has to rank among the world's most crippling.

India's quick military success against Pakistan resulting in the creation of Bangladesh five years ago gave Mme. Ghandi's followers the same mental lift Michigan would feel if it beats Ohio State ten days from

This euphoria has long since worn off. Knowledgeable Indians are aware that a passage of arms is no substitute for coming to grips with their country's internal problems; and question as they do Mme. Ghandi's ability to wrestle those knotty difficulties to earth, they are frustrated to find someone who can.

A judicial result reached on that rational whoud shock Americans to whom expediency is a dirty word.

Soil and climate conditions, however, do vary from garden plot to garden plot. Democracy has been less than fruitful to India since achieving independence 25 years ago and until it can gain a firmer hold, expedients are more to be desired than outright

BH Employe Residency Rule Faces Court Test

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON Staff Writer

The City of Benton Harbor's residency rule is being challenged in Berrien Circuit court by a former city employe who claims he was fired because he did not move into

The plaintiff in the suit, Victor J. Brown, of 2123 Samuel avenue. St. Joseph township, claims he worked at Benton Harbor's water plant for two years before he was fired on Sept. 18 "for the sole reason of (his) failure to establish city residency.

The suit charges the residency ordinance is invalid and unconstitutional because "there is no provision in the city charter which authorizes the city by ordinance to establish residency requirements for municipal employes.

The suit additionally asks the court to declare the residency ordinance invalid and order the city to reinstate Brown to his former position as water plant operator and that Brown be awarded back wages and Benton Harbor's city commission in May, 1973, adopted an amendment to the city charter which required employes hired after June 1, 1973, to be residents of the city. It also said the city manager could waive the requirement for an employe up to six months, and that waiver of the residency rule after six months must be approved by the com-

He contends he has lived at his present address for 14 years, lives within 11/2 miles of the city limits, within 10 minutes of the water plant, and that all other water plant operators including the superintendent reside outside of the city.

Browns also charges that he was told by department heads and other officials of the city that the residency requirement would not be enforced.

Lincoln and Sodus townships became the fifth and sixth area municipalities to join the Community Emergency Service Corp. last night.

Action to join the ambulance agency came at separate meetings of the township boards, leaving only one area municipality involved to act. The one, Benton Harbor, referred the proposal to committee for study Monday night.

Royalton, St. Joseph and Benton townships and St. Joseph city have already voted to join. In Lincoln township, the vote to join was made contingent on participation of the six other municipalities.

The corporation is being formed to keep an ambulance service operating within the seven municipalities. The service would receive a subsidy from the corporation with corporation members paying a prorated share ot it.

Action ambulance, which had been providing service in the seven units under other financial arrangements, has been picked by the corporation to continue service. In Lincoln township, Supervisor Ernest Hauch said the township's share of the subsidy would be $8,282 per year. In its resolution approving the contract it was stated the township's share would not exceed that figure.

Annual subsidies of other governmental units involved, based on 1973 revenue sharing census figures are Benton township, $14,112; Benton Harbor, $11,414; St. Joseph, $8,070; St. Joseph township, $7,539; and Royalton and Sodus townships, $1,832 each per year.

Action will still charge area residents for use of the service on an equal basis. Any excess profits, if realized, will be used to either reduce the subsidy or to improve the ambulance ser-

No members of the Lincoln township board voted against entering into the agreement, but two, Anthony Dloughy and Gerald Wahl, questioned if the township would end up "paying the freight for someone else."

In other areas the Lincoln board set Tuesday, Nov. 25, at 7 p.m., as a hearing date for residents residing north of the township cemetery and south of I-94, who have petitioned for a hearing on the township's proposed new zoning ordinance and map. The residents are opposed to the changing of the area from commercial to residential use. The board referred a request for a liquor license from Pasquale Santaniello, owner of Glenlord Pizzeria, 2262 West Glenlord avenue, to its liquor license committee.

The board approved an amendment to its township ordinance concerning water cross connections, which will allow the township to inspect and require corrections if needed. A cross connection is piping that could allow a back flow of water to enter the public system. The ordinance, as amended, will take effect 30 days after publication.

Gerald Wahl, township treasurer, announced that tax bills would be mailed out the first week of December. Wahl said that for the first time this year, tax bills will be sent directly to the property owner and not the mortgage holder. He said it is the responsibility of the property owner to see that the mortgage holder receives the tax bill, and also the property owner's responsibility to make a copy of the bill, if he so desires. Receipts will be sent directly to whomever pays the bill, he added.

As in past years, the board approved waiving the one per cent allowable tax collection fee.

Hauch announced that persons interested in serving on the township parks commission should submit an application to the township clerk, Mrs. Bernice Tretheway, prior to the next regular meeting of the board on Dec. 9. All applicants will be interviewed at that meeting. One seat on the parks commission is now open, since Jeffery Fooy has moved out of the township. The appointment to Fooy's seat will be until the general election on 1976.

The board approved a Maiden Lane-Lincoln avenue sewer line use agreement with St. Joseph township, paving the way for the hook-up of the Upton junior high

The board also agreed to purchase a $35 sponsorship in a book to be published by the Berrien county bicentennial committee.

A public hearing date for street lights for Clearview Acres subdivision was set for 7 p.m., Dec. 9, at the township

While youngsters eagerly count the dwindling days of December, that's just when mothers would like a few to spare, according to a home service advisor, Pauline Church. "Actually, you can stockpile some extra hours - if not extra days," she suggests, "simply by starting now to prepare and freeze foods ahead for the holidays." All manner of baked goods can be frozen successfully, she points out, and some are even improved by freezing. Yeast rolls and breads tend to taste fresher, for example, while fruit cakes are more mellow and easier to slice. Cakes, cookies, yeast breads, and quick breads may be stored longer if they're baked before freezing. Fruit pies, on the other hand, keep longer if frozen unbaked. For specifics, check the storage time chart found in most freezing

"If you traditionally spend hours baking and decorating a variety of cookies for the holidays, this could be a good fall freezing project," observes Church.

Cooled cookies should be arranged in layers in moisturevapor-proof containers. Layers of soft cookies may be separated with waxed paper to prevent sticking, while crisp ones may be protected against breakage with pieces of crumpled wax paper. Both keep up to a year at zero

"An assortment of your special cookies makes a lovely gift for a friend or neighbor," says Church. "So why not make these up as you go along? Just top the container with a holiday bow when you take it from the freezer."

"Virtually any kind of pie, except custard, can be frozen successfully," the home service advisor notes.

Other good candidates for a make-and-freeze project are popcorn balls and candies, including fudge, penuche, divinity, candied fruits, fondant, stuffed dates, and spiced nuts. Candies should be packed snugly in airtight containers, while popcorn balls can be frozen in individual pint-size bags with twist-tie closures. Dress them up later with bows of bright yarn, Church suggests.

Heart Attacks Are New No. 1 Killer Of Women

"More women die from heart disease than from cancer, accidents, and respiratory troubles combined," says Dr. Peter L. Frommer of the National Heart and Lung Institue in the November Family Circle magazine.

Judith Ramsey Author researched this tragically neglected subject for the woman's magazine and discovered that not only are heart attacks striking relatively young women, but new develophave not made a significant change in the annual death rate from 1940 to the present.

Looking for a fitting finale for a hearty Thanksgiving feast? Light and luscious Pumpkin Chiffon Delight will top off your menu in style.

It's no wonder pumpkin pie is a traditional Thanksgiving dessert. Pumpkin was virtually a staple food to the Indians of North America at the time of the colonists' arrival. Pumpkin was boiled, baked, made into soup, dried and ground into meal by the Indians. Since this gourd has a characteristic sweet flavor, is a good source of vitamin A and a fair source of iron, the colonists, too, used it in many dishes and it's still a popular food today.

Taste preferences and recipe preparation methods have changed over the years, however, and Pumpkin Chiffon Delight reflects a more modern approach to pumpkin pie. Separately beaten egg yolks and whites lend the pie its lightness and provide high-quality protein. If you choose to use pecans and raisins as a base for the chiffon mixture, they'll provide additional nutrients, a delightful texture contrast and intriguing flavor. Orange peel and juice further enhance this des-

NYC Took First Step 11 Years Ago

Easy Way Becomes A Nightmare

By LEE MITGANG AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - A $26 million entry in the New York City budget 11 years ago seemed out of place in the wilderness of numbers that totalled $3.3

No one suspected it at the time, but experts now say that small sum may have paved the way for the city's financial collapse 11 years later, as the nation's largest city now struggles to pay off $12.4 billion in debts and balance its budget.

That $26 million was the first time the city's politicians borrowed money to pay for everyday city expenses, a costly habit similar to taking out a mortgage to buy a loaf of bread.

In this case, former Mayor Robert F. Wagner decided that rather than raise taxes or cut back on city services, he would take expense items - some consultant fees — and put them into the city's capital budget, which is financed by floating bonds and short-term notes.

He was able to do this because in mid-1964, then-Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the state legislature decided to allow the city to borrow money to pay for a variety of normal expenses.

The legal door was thus flung open for Wagner, former Mayor John V. Lindsay and Mayor Abraham D. Beame to borrow for almost any expense item they pleased, while amassing a "hidden" budget deficit recently conceded by the Beame administration at $3 billion.

In 1969 and 1970, Lindsay doubled current expense borrowing from $84 million to $151 million by switching manpower training and job development from the expense budget to the capital budget.

In 1974, Beame shifted $722 million in expense items to the capital budget.

Last June, New York State Comptroller Arthur Levitt studied the years when Lindsay was mayor and Beame was comptroller, and found the city had used bonds to finance city salaries, library books, architects fees, even interest on other current expenses from 1950 on. City first began costly

Most now expect the city's deficit financing of operating expenses to top $1 billion in fiscal 1975-76.

"By borrowing to pay for operating expenses year after year, there develops a built-in, permanent need for more taxes, just to pay the interest on borrowings," Levitt said.

The budget itself has quadrupled in the past decade, from $3.3 billion in 1965 to a current $12.2 billion, six times greater than Chicago's and second only to the national bud-

By city estimates, 60 per cent of the current expense budget goes to union salaries.

Before Mayor Beame was forced by the current fiscal crisis to lay off some 36,000 workers, the city's workforce had more than tripled from 103,000 in 1956 to 340,000 in mid-1975. At the same time, the city's population declined.

The floodgates for generous wage and pension benefits were opened by another Wagner decision in 1958 to allow the city's workers the right to unionize as they wished.

The unions first flexed their bargaining muscle in 1966, however, when newly elected Mayor Lindsay tried to face down city transit workers who won a then-unheard of 15.7 per cent pay raise over two years after a crippling 12-day strike.

Since then, the average transit worker's pay has gone from $7,222 a year to $15,125, up 109 per cent, and some city unions have done even better. During this period the city's inflation rate has gone up 78.4 per cent.

Over-all, a 1974 study by the Citizens Union Research Foundation showed that the city's pension costs had gone up more than 400 per cent in the past 10 years. Many workers can retire with at least half pay after 20 years of service, which is better on a percentage basis than terms offered almost anywhere else in the private or government sectors

A look at 10 years of city budgets by the Citizens Budget Commission shows that city pensions and salaries are not the whole story of New York City's fall towards default.

Between 1965 and the present, welfare and social service costs have gone up six-fold to more than $2.4 billion. More than one million New Yorkers are on relief. New York foots a far larger share of its social services bill than any other large city, most of which have county and state help.

Here, forces inside and outside the city figure in, and they lie at the heart of the city's huge borrowing needs.

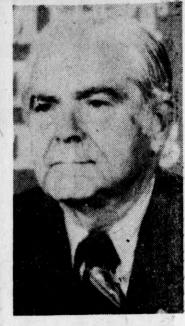

New York City has experienced great shifts of population since the 19th century, but the changes since World War II have been financially unfavorable. Prodded by federal government home mortgage guarantee and loan programs, the city's affluent moved to the suburbs in the 1950s to be joined by others fleeing crime and other urban ills through the 1960s.

In the last decade nearly a million middle and uppermiddle class New Yorkers have left, replaced by a million of the nation's poor, many of whom became welfare cases.

Along with the middle class. many businesses have left the city, taking with them an estimated 500,000 jobs in the past five years alone. Meanwhile, York City's latest unemployment figures stand at 12.2 per cent, while the national rate is 8.6 per cent.

Local economists say the city never recovered from the 1969-70 national recession, much less the latest one.

Another factor which has eroded the city's tax base has been the high rate of building abandonment by landlords in run-down neighborhoods such as the South Bronx, a problem some say was heightened with the coming of rent controls during World War II.

It is estimated that up to one million buildings remain with rents frozen at or near mid-1940 levels. The city is one of the last areas in the nation to continue the rent control program.

In the past decade the amount of unpaid and uncollectable city property taxes has grown to about $400 million.

Outside the city, once-sympathetic attitudes toward city

poverty programs were changing and those changes have meant fewer federal and state dollars for New York City.

Before the years of President Johnson's Great Society programs, the federal and state government provided only 25 per cent of the city's financing. Under Johnson, that share soared to 48 per cent of the city's budget, but the Great Society programs were cut back during the Nixon years. But the past four years state and federal contributions to the city have dropped to 43 per cent of the budget. City officials, who in the '60s willingly took on federal poverty programs, now say that the more conservative Nixon and Ford administrations left New York City holding the bag in the 1970s.

While federal contributions to antipoverty programs were cut back, the city was loath to end the programs begun under federal sponsorship because of the impact on the city's poor.

rate is 8.6 per cent.

Local economists say the city never recovered from the 1969-70 national recession, much less the latest one.

Another factor which has roded the city's tax base has been the high rate of building abandonment by landlords in run-down neighborhoods such as the South Bronx, a problem some say was heightened with the coming of rent controls during World War II.

It is estimated that up to one million buildings remain with rents frozen at or near mid-1940 levels. The city is one of the last areas in the nation to continue the rent control program.

In the past decade the amount of unpaid and uncollectable city rty taxes has grown to about $400 million.

Outside the city once-sympathetic attitudes toward city

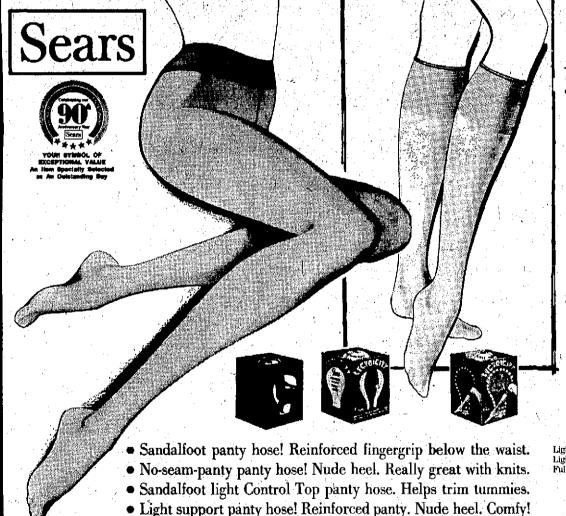

poverty programs were changing and those changes have meant fewer federal and state dollars for New York City. Before the years of President

Johnson's Great Society programs, the federal and state government provided only 25 per cent of the city's financing. Under Johnson, that share soured to 48 per cent of the city's budget, but the Great Society programs were cut back during the Nixon years. But the past four years state and federal contributions to the city have dropped to 43 per cent of the budget. City officials, who in the 60s willingly took on federal poverty programs, now say that the more conservative Nixon and Ford administrations left New York City holding the bag in the 1970s.

While federal contributions to antipoverty programs were cut back, the city was loath to end; the programs begun under federal sponsorship because of the impact on the city's poor.

Close Senate Vote Seen

LANSING, Mich. (AP) - A close state Senate vote was expected today over a controversial bill permitting the teaching of birth control in sex education classes.

The measure was defeated last summer but its sponsor, Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, hopes his acceptance of a special amendment last week will pacify critics. "I predict we'll probably win by a fairly narrow margin," Bursley said.

The bill would permit instruction about contraception, sex hygiene and venereal disease prevention. But the critical amendment says a child could not take the class unless he or she had written parental

Budget Control Tests Near

WASHINGTON (AP) - The year-long congressional effort to improve its control over the federal budget and spending ceilings now faces some of its first major tests as the House nears a vote on legislation setting a $373.8 expenditure

Previously, Bursley's bill would have required parental consent in order to be excused from class. Local school boards decide if sex education is to be taught in their districts.

Liberal backers of the bill say the new amendment would mean students who need the class most probably won't get to attend. They contend the same parent who does a poor job of sex education in the home is the parent who won't permit his child to take the class - or

New Mexico's Ex-Senator Dies

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) - Former Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, one of New Mexico's influential political figures, is dead of an apparent stroke. He was 80.

His family said Anderson, who served in the Senate from 1948-72, succumbed Tuesday night at his Albuquerque home. Funeral arrangements were pending at Strong-Thorne Mortuary in Albuquerque.

Anderson, a Democrat, also was elected to three consecutive terms in the House of Representatives, beginning in

During the third term he was chosen by then-President Truman as secretary of agriculture. He resigned in 1948 to seek a Senate seat

Sherburne P. Anderson, the senator's son, said his father was stricken shortly after dinner

Wallace ran as an independent candidate for the White House in 1968. And on two other occasions he ignored the party leadership and played a spoiler's role in unsuccessful attempts at the Democratic nomination.

In 1972, Wallace scored major victories in Florida, Michigan and Maryland and drew significant votes in several other primaries before he was forced to withdraw from the race after being wounded in the shooting at Laurel, Md.

Campaign aides said Wallace again will rely on his popularity among voters and not the party leadership.

Last month, he made a twoweek tour through Europe partly to silence doubts about his health. His doctors say he is fit enough to be president, but his health as well as his politics will be on the line in the up-

Teacher Ends His 'Strike'

ROCHESTER, Mich. (AP) - Avigdor Zaromp, an unemployed mathematician, says he's ended his three-week hunger strike following several tentative job offers. Zaromp began hunger strike because he had been unable to get a job in mathematics since being laid off at Oakland University in 1972. He lost 22 pounds and now weighs 170. .Zaromp said affirmative action programs which gave preference to members of certain minority groups were responsible for many of his problems.

"We were leaning all the way. about 45 degrees it seemed, and we got three-quarters of the way across. I was shaking like a leaf," Wilder said.

Trucker's Widow Files Crash Suit

A trucker's widow has filed suit in Berrien Circuit court seeking $750,000 damages as a result of a fiery car-truck crash near Three Oaks last May.

Coralyn F. Duke, of Mason, Mich., claims her husband, Elvin, was killed May 1 when a car pulled onto US-12 from Basswood road into the path of the semi-tanker driven by her husband.

The impact caused the truck, 'carrying 6,400 gallons of highly flammable paint thinner and mixer, to roll over and burst into flames, with Duke trapped inside the truck's cab.

Named defendant in the suit, and identified as the driver of the car which allegedly pulled into the path of the truck, was Paul D. Browning, of LaPorte, Ind.

"We'were hitting bad winds all the way, so when I got to the bridge, I asked the guy in the , booth if it was safe to cross and he said 'yes.' So I paid him my

"We were leaning all the way, about 45 degrees it seemed, and we got three-quarters of the way

Arthur Burns and a Republican leader softened their opposition to federal aid for New York City, Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller hinted that President Ford also will reappraise his opposition if the city takes tough steps to get its finances in order.

And there were signs that officials of New York state and the financially ailing city were developing such a program to meet a Ford administration requirement that the city be placed on a sound financial footing.

Rockefeller told a news conference Tuesday in Austin, Tex., that "if the city did take steps and make the hard decision, then that would create new circumstance something that he (Ford) had not anticipated.

"When a new situation develops under these circumstances, maybe there would be a reappraisal of the situation."

Ford's statements opposing federal aid to New York City often have contained language stressing that his opposition was limited to the factual situation existing at the time, leaving open the possibility he would change his mind if the circumstances changed.

A further clue that some arrangement was being worked out came Tuesday when Felix Rohatyn of the state's Municipal Asistance Corp. said of a meeting with Treasury Secretary William E. Simon and Burns, "I think we've accomplished something." He declined to say what. Simon has been one of the most outspoken administration opponents of federal aid.

New York Gov. Hugh Carey is putting together a complex proposal involving higher city sales taxes, boosts in taxes on corporations and banks, and aid from banks and the federal government for the city.

The Southwestern Michigan Comprehensive Health Planning association, headquartered in St. Joseph, is in the process of merging with a similar health planning group headquartered in Battle Creek to comply with a new federal act.

The new organization will serve an eight-county area in southwestMichigan, including Berrien, Cass, Van Buren, Branch, Barry, Kalamazoo, St. Joseph and Calhoun counties.

John Ross, executive director of the Southwestern Michigan Comprehensive Health Planning Association (SMCHPA), said SMCHPA will continue its operations until the new HSA is officially designated by the federal government, hopefully about April 1. Ross said there still has been no decision by the new Southwest Michigan Health Systems Agency (SMHSA) board on whether to have branch offices throughout the area or one cen-

The new HSAs, according to federal regulations, are responsible for providing health planning in addition to promoting the development of health services, manpower, and facilities to meet health needs in an area.

Ross noted the new SMHSA has been chartered and bylaws have been adopted. The board of directors for the new organization includes 10 people from the three-county area who previously served on the board of directors for SMCHPA.

Elected to the new board from Berrien county are: William Bock, M.D.; Millard Mayhall, Stevensville; Mrs. Mary DeFoe, of Benton Harbor; J. Howard Edwards, from the Area Resources Improvement Council; Mrs. Nancy Clark, a Berrien county commissioner; and Margaret Morrow, who resides in Cass county but represents the nursing profession.

Cass' representatives include Marjorie Federowski, a Cass county commissioner, and Ruth Sarabyn. Alvera Solis, director of migrant health programs, and Frieda Brown, of the family planning field, represent Van Buren county.

During board elections, Mayhall was selected as vice president for the new SMHSA board.

TV Reruns Start Dec. 1

'Archie' To See Daylight

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer NEW YORK (AP) - Daytime television's ratings race should get quite lively Dec. 1, when CBS pits daily reruns of its hit "All in the Family" nighttime series against NBC's high-rated "Another World" soap opera.

The half-hour "Family" series, the nation's top-rated show for six out of eight weeks this season, will start its repeats at 3 p.m. EST each day, when NBC's hour-long "Another World" begins.

While it's not the first time a network has put repeats of a nighttime situation comedy in its daytime lineup, it is the first time a series from producer Norman Lear's successful nighttime series emporium has been scheduled for daytime rejected Lear's new "Mary his idea, not Silverman's.

Hartman, Mary Hartman" comedy - cum - soap opera series as a Monday - through -Friday show for daytime

Lear, who is proceeding with the series anyway and syndicating it to stations, said in an interview last September that CBS turned it down after he balked at basic changes he said CBS wanted made.

He said Fred Silverman, CBS' program chief when he proposed the series, wanted "Hartman" as a once-a-week nighttime show that ran an hour and was taped before a studio

But Donald "Bud" Grant, CBS' daytime programming chief and the man responsible for scheduling "All in the Family" repeats for daytime It's a bit ironic, since CBS - TV, said rejection of "Hartas well as NBC and ABC - man" as a daytime series was

It was a matter of "pure program judgment," he said. 'There was a practical and production problem associated with 'Mary Hartman,' which I think was an overriding and impossible problem to lick.

"And that is writing 260 comedy scripts a year." By this he meant that a daily "Hartman" show would require five new half-hour scripts a week, 52 weeks a year. "It's tough to write comedy,"

Grant said. "It's hard enough coming up with 24 'All in the Family' scripts each season when you're dealing with characters as well-defined as Archie and Edith Bunker and the Sally Struthers and Rob Reiner characters.'

He said a soap opera script, which he considers serious drama, "is much easier to write and sustain than comedy. Comedy's very fragile.

And, he said, "when you have an original concept like 'Mary Hartman' - and in my opinion the characters were not that well-defined - and you tell a writer, 'You've got to come up with 260 comedy scripts a year,' I don't see how it's possible."

Since "All in the Family" episodes obviously aren't made at the one-a-day rate of soap operas, what happens when the "Family" supply runs out?

Grant said he didn't think this posed an immediate problem, since by "the end of this season we'll have a total of some 130 episodes with a couple of years to go on the 'All in the Family'

"So even if it didn't go any further than this year, which it will, you have 130 episodes. Now there are 260 daytime telecasts a year, so that means any individual episode will be repeated twice a year."

What's In It For You?

What can a shopper do when confronted with a buying decision between two different brands where everything seems the same: product, size and price? To add to the difficulty of the decision, both brands have been tried before and are equally acceptable.

The best advice is to check the ingredient listing. Manufacturers are required by law to list the ingredients of canned and frozen foods in the order of decreasing content. Therefore, if you're looking at two cans of beef chunks in gravy and one can reads, "beef with gravy" while the other reads, "gravy with beef", the first can is the better buy. Unless, for some reason, you are interested in paying a premium for gravy.

Wind Goes Out Of ABA Sails As San Diego Team Folds

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The American Basketball Association dropped the other shoe Tuesday, folding its San Diego franchise in a move towards consolidation and economic stability.

When the league closed the Baltimore Claws three weeks ago, there was strong sentiment among some officials for dropping San Diego as well. That would eliminate costly travel to the West Coast and allow the ABA to go into the season as a compact, eight-team

But Frank Goldberg, owner of the San Diego Sails, was able to keep the team alive - until Tuesday, when the ABA decided to pull up stakes after a fraction more than three seasons in San

There were indications from some Sails officials that the action was taken despite objections by Goldberg, but a league official said following the day-long meetings, "My feeling is that Goldberg just sat down and made a straight business decision.

What Commissioner Dave DeBusschere is trying to do is establish some sort of stability," the ABA official explained. "We want to show that we're operating as a business - a sound, sensible business.

Diego and was unavailable for comment. But other Sails principles expressed shock at the dissolution of their franchise.

Goldberg left the ABA meeting, returned immediately to San

"I'm in a state of shock. I'm stunned. I had no idea," said Bill Musselman, who left the University of Minnesota to become coach believe he would drop the franchise when he just bought it.

On Tuesday morning, Sails officials denied reports that their club was about to go under. But hours later, the league took the wind out of the Sails with a one-paragraph announcement

"San Diego confirmed today they were ceasing business operations effective immediately," the statement read. "In accordance with league by-laws, this action automatically terminates the membership of this franchise in the league. The ABA is now considering what actions to take with respect to San Diego."

The first action, scheduled for this afternoon, is a dispersal draft to distribute the Sails players among the eight remaining ABA teams. Among the top names who'll be moving on are center Caldwell Jones, guards Bo Lamar and Kevin Joyce, veteran frontcourtmen Dave Robisch and Stu Johnson and 19-year-old Mark Olberding, a rugged forward who came with Musselman to the Sails after one year at Minnesota.

Jones is a special case. One of the game's premier pivotmen, he has signed a long-term contract with the NBA's Philadelphia 76ers, effective in 1977. Pat Williams, the 76ers general manager, said he would study the matter to see if Jones' services might be obtained prior to 1977, but an ABA official said he was on the third year of a three-year pact and was bound to the league for this season plus one option year.

Also on the immediate agenda for ABA officials is the composition of a new schedule, the second time they have had to redo their slate in less than a month.

Perfect Seaver Cops Cy Young

Ties Koufax With Third Award

NEW YORK (AP) - Perfectoday for the third time in his tionist Tom Seaver of the New York Mets won the National League's Cy Young Award

The Met ace, who makes a complex science out of pitching, equalled the achievement of Hall of Famer Sandy Koufax, the only other player in baseball history to win the prestigious award three times.

Koufax, of the Los Angeles Dodgers, was named the National League's top pitcher in 1963, 1965 and 1966.

Seaver, named previously in 1969 and 1973, was given the prize by the Baseball Writers Association of America in a battle with San Diego stopper Randy Jones.

Seaver was tossed 15 firstplace votes, seven for second place and two for third from the 24 writers, two from each of the National League cities, for a to-

25,000

NEW YORK (AP) - The American Basketball Association dropped the other shoe Tuesday, folding its San Diego franchise in a move towards consolidation and economic stability.

When the league closed the Baltimore Claws three weeks ago there was strong sentiment among some officials for dropping San Diego as well. That would eliminate costly travel to the West Coast and allow the ABA to go into the season as a compact, eight-team

But Frank Goldberg, owner of the San Diego Sails, was able to keep the team alive — until Tuesday, when the ABA decided to pull up stakes after a fraction more than three seasons in San

just sat down and made a straight business decision."

'What Commissioner Dave DeBusschere is trying to do is establish some soft of stability," the ABA official explained. "We want to show that we're operating as a business - a sound, sensible business.

Goldberg left the ABA meeting, returned immediately to San Diego and was unavailable for comment: But other Sails principles expressed shock at the dissolution of their franchise.

'I'm in a state of shock. I'm stunned. I had no idea," said Bill Musselman, who left the University of Minnesota to become coach of the Sails this season. "Goldberg is a basketball fanatic, I ean't believe he would drop the franchise when he just bought it."

On Tuesday morning, Sails officials denied reports that their club was about to go under. But hours later, the league took the wind out of the Sails with a one-paragraph announcement:

"San Diego confirmed today they were ceasing business opera-tions effective immediately." the statement read. "In accordance with league by-laws, this action automatically terminates the membership of this franchise in the league. The ABA is now considering what actions to take with respect to San Diego."

The first action, scheduled for this afternoon, is a dispersal draft to distribute the Sails players among the eight remaining ABA teams. Among the top names who'll be moving on are center Caldwell Jones, gnards Bo Lamar and Kevin Joyce, veteral frontcourtmen Dave Robisch and Stu Johnson and 19-year-old Mark Olberding, a rugged forward who came with Musselman to the Sails after one year at Minnesota.

Jones is a special case. One of the game's premier pivotinen, be has signed a long-term contract with the NBA's Philadelphia 76crs, effective in 1877, Pat Williams, the 76crs general manager, said he would study the matter to see if Jones' services might be obtained prior to 1977, but an ABA official said he was on the third year of a three-year pact and was bound to the league for this season plus one option year.

on the immediate agenda for ABA officials is the composition of a new schedule, the second time they have had to redo their

Benton Harbor Players Spark Cage Hopes

LMC Looking For Improvement

After a 9-20 season last year, Lake Michigan College's head basketball coach Art Crump is looking for a lot better team in 1975. "We've seen what it's like at the bottom; now we'd like to probably me manned by see the view from the top."

The Indians have a good nucleus to work with, having six lettermen returning from a team that finished last at 4-10 in the Western Conference of the Michigan Community College Athletic Association (MCCAA).

A pair of Benton Harbor forwards return to help anchor the terberry is 6-2 and averaged 7.4 points per game while 6-2 Jimmy Bridgman had a 9.6 average. One guard spot will another former Tiger, 6-3 John Taylor, who averaged 10.9

points per game. Those three will start most of the time, reports the third-year coach, but after that, there is a big scramble for starting spots. "This team could have a starting rotation of 10 ballplayers," he said.

At the forward spots, Crump front court corps. Andrew At- can use former Tigers Kerry Lee (6-2) and Al Sanders (6-3) and Darryl Kelly of Michigan City Elston besides Atterberry and Bridgman.

> Taylor's running mate at guard could very well be freshman Gentry Moore of Chicago Carver. Crump said that the 5-10 back court ace seems to be a spark plug of the team. "I feel that this year's team has the leadership that was lacking from last season's squad," commented Crump.

> "Moore and Taylor seem to bring the group together."

Back-up men at the guard spots will be Benton Harbor freshmen Eddie Albert (6-1) and Vern Reynolds (5-10) and St. Joseph sophomore Bernie Christopher (6-1).

The shoes of Reggie Walker, last year's leading rebounder, will be hard to fill but Crump feels he has some adequate replacements that can do the job at center. One of them is James Childs, a 6-4 sophomore from Benton Harbor who averaged 8.4 points per game last season.

Two freshmen that could also see some action are David Thomas and Craig Bell. The 6-4, 200-pound Thomas, who hails from Chicago Carver, is an outstanding leaper, indicated Crump. Bell is a 6-6 pivotman from East St. Louis, Ill. "Bell is a real sleeper," said Crump. "He has a lot to learn but has the desire to be a great ballplayer.

"I think that all the way around, we will be stronger than last year," commented the head coach. "Our rebounding was weak but we have been working on it."

Crump sees' his and league conference schedules as being real tough. The Indians open with a road game at Chicago Loop College before coming home for games with Malcolm X College Highland Park and Monroe. LMC then begins its loop schedule against Southwestern Michigan on Dec. 3.

"This is the best pre-season that we have had since I've been here," Crump grinned. 'All the players want to make a contribution to	the te	am."

Benton Harbor Players Spark Cage Hopes

LMC Looking For Improvement

Lake Michigan College's head basketball coach Art Crump is looking for a lot better team in 1975. "We've seen what it's like at the bottom; now we'd like to, see the view from the top."

The Indians have a good nucleus to work with, having six lettermen returning from a team that finished last at 4-10 in the Western Conference of the Michigan Community Community College Athletic Association

A pair of Benton Harbor for-terberry is 6-2 and averaged 7.4 points per game while 6-2 Jimmy Bridgman had a 9.6 average. One guard spot will probably me manned by another former Tiger, 6-3 John Taylor, who averaged 10.9 points per game.

Those three will start most of the time, reports the third-year coach, but after that, there is a big scramble for starting spots. "This team could have a starting rotation of 10 ballhe said.

At the forward spots, Crump

Lee (6-2) and Al Sanders (6-3) and Darryl Kelly of Michigan City Elston besides Atterberry and Bridgman.

Taylor's running mate at guard could very well be Ireshman Gentry Moore of Chicago Carver, Crump said that the 5-10 back court ace seems to be a spark plug of the team, "I feel that this year's team has the leadership that was lacking from last season's squad," commented Crump. "Moore and Taylor seem to

Back-up men at the guard spots will be Benton Harbor freshmen Eddie Albert (6-1) and Vern Reynolds (5-10) and St. Joseph sophomore Bernie Christopher (6-1).

The shoes of Reggie Walker, last year's leading rebounder, will be hard to fill but Crump feels he has some adequate replacements that can do the job at center. One of them is Childs, a 6-4 sophomore Benton Harbor who from Benton averaged 8.4 points per game

Two freshmen that could also see some action are David Thomas and Craig Bell. The 6-4, 200-pound Thomas, who hails from Chicago Carver, is an outstanding leaper, indicated Crump. Bell is a 6-6 pivotmen from East St. Louis, Ill. "Bell is a real sleeper," said Crump. "He has a lot to learn but has the desire to be a great

"I think that all the way around, we will be stronger than last year," commented the head coach. "Our/rebound-ing was weak but we have been working on it."

Crump sees his preconference and league schedules as being real tough. league The Indians open with a road game at Chicago Loop College before coming home for games with Malcolm X College Highland Park and Monroe. LMC then begins its loop schedule against Southwestern Michigan on Dec. 3.

This is the best pre-season that we have had since I've been here;" Crump grinned. "All the players want to make

Campbell Allowing NHL Violence

Players in the National Hockey League skate with one eye on the opposition and one on the local civil codes. The Philadelphia Flyers skate part of the time and wreak havoc the rest of it.

And amid growing violence in the NHL, violence that threatens to give the sport the credibility of roller derby or professional wrestling, President Clarence Campbell appears unwilling or unable — to use the police powers he has.

The Flyers, known as the "Broad Street Bullies" partly because of their physical game but more so because of the goon-squad tactics they occasionally employ, triggered another brouhaha Sunday night in Philadelphia.

Defenseman Jack McIlhargey received an automatic one-game suspension Monday after leading one of Philadelphia's patented bench-clearing charges that resulted in a lengthy brawl with the Pittsburgh Penguins.

It was the second time this season McIlhargy has led the charge off the Philadelphia bench. Yet the suspension was a mere slap on the wrist.

Roth didn't miss any football because of the operation, in May of 1974, but teammate Fred Besana had a slight experience edge and won the right to succeed Bartkowski as Cal's starting quarterback this season. Coach Mike White gave Roth his first start in the fourth game of the season, and the quarterback beat San Jose State with a 46yard touchdown pass to Wes Walker in the final minutes.

"His improvement has been amazing," says White, who already rates Roth Bartkowski's class and adds, "His performance against Washington was the best I've ever seen by a college quarter-

Roth completed 24 of 37 passes against the Huskies, who used five or six defensive backs most of the time. Steve Rivera, a third team All-American last season, caught 10 passes for 183 yards in the victory which kept the 15th-ranked Bears ahead in the Pac-8 standings.

"Steve's got great hands and he reads the defenses very well as he comes off the line. He's always able to get open," said Roth, who has hit Rivera 29 times in the past three games for a total of 468 yards.

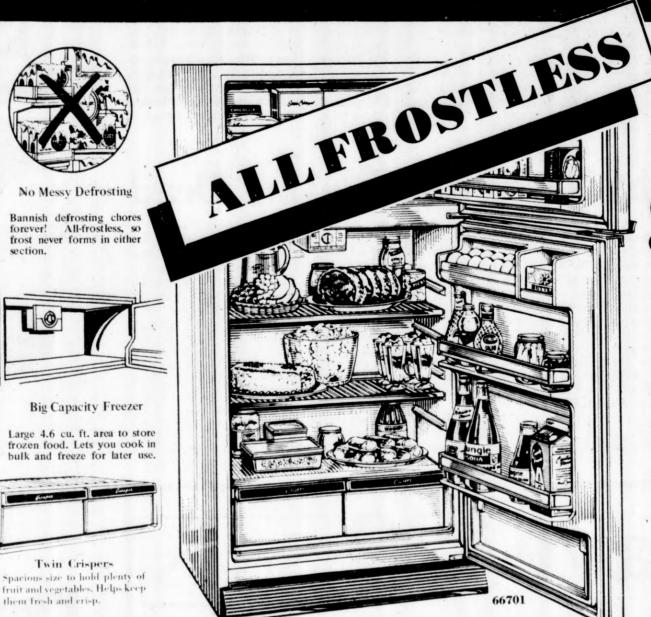

Roth's 860 yards in the last three contests give him a season total of 1,469 and a place among the national passing leaders although he didn't play in the opening game at Colorado and saw just part-time action in three other games before becoming the No. 1 quarter-

Many Alaskans - particularly those who have worked ardently through the years to get rid of the isolation and hardships of the frontier are happy about it all. They say a northward migration has started that will open Alaska the way the western part of the nation was opened in the last century.

The dismay is among those who want to keep Alaska unchanged. They view with alarm the thousands of men and women who have "invaded" Alaska looking for the quick buck in a pipeline job. The money from that oil will stimulate improvements to schools, hospitals and welfare programs.

The Alaska natives are coming into positions of great new power as they collect their billion dollars in cash and take title to 40 million acres of public domain in settlement of the original claims against the federal government.

Already they have received some $200 million cash and have purchased hotels, contracting firms, trucking companies, engineering and architectural firms and many commercial buildings. With one billion dollars they could buy a substantial part of the whole state's business establishment. They have contracts with five of the nations largest oil companies to work for them in exploring for oil on their lands.

In the state legislature the native caucus has become a power center that is winning amendments to laws that otherwise might tax or inconvenience the native tribes in their economic activities.

The physical job of "opening up." Alaska is running some 50 to 100 years behind the settlement of the West. There are striking similarities as history repeats itself here, out there are also differences.

Today's frontiersman, for instance, works a 40-hour week and is usually under the tender loving care of a labor union. He often has his room and board provided free and is guaranteed many benefits that the frontiersman of the last century could not even have dreamed of. The pay scales, along with overtime, run earnings sky high. Pipeline workers often fly to Hawaii for rest and relaxation after a few weeks in the Arctic.

The ambivalence in the minds of Alaskans appears to have little influence in directing the course of developments.

De Lorean said he began the project in part to promote the plastic body material, which he hopes to sell to the car makers.

He said the plastic is as strong as steel but much lighter, thus allowing for improved fuel economy. And although it is a petroleum-based product, it requires less energy to produce than steel, he added.

Allstate and De Lorean said the vehicle is targeted for a 2,200-pound weight class lighter than today's subcompacts - with fuel economy rated at about 30 miles per gallon of gasoline on the federal government's highway test and 20 m.p.g. on the city test.

Bangor Completes Town Hall Sale

BANGOR — Bangor township board has received $15,000 from Bangor city for the township's share of the town hall, thus ending periodic negotiations that started in 1968

Township Supervisor Glen Hessey said the township received the money from the city in October, formally sealing the bargain. The 40-year-old building was built by the township and the then village of Bangor in 1935 but fell within city limits when the village was incorporated in March, 1968.

Sale of the township's share of the building has been discussed periodically since then. The township board now meets in Wood school on 66th

In other areas, Hessey announced that federal funds will pay for replacement of two culverts washed out during the spring flooding. The culverts will be installed on CR-378 and on 66th street, he said.

The board adopted a federal flood control map as presented by the federal department of Housing and Urban Development. Adoption of the map makes township residents eligible for federal flood insurance, township officials said.

The board also said Fred Reinhardt Jr. of Bangor will present his bid for a contract to clean out Kraft drain on School Section lake Others may also bid on the work, they said.

But for three weeks in October, crowds followed her down the street, craned their necks to watch her at sales counters and giggled at her ineptitude as a customer.

She was in Red China — and drew crowds as one of the few Americans who have visited the People's Republic.

"Westerners are still a great curiosity there. The Chinese would line up six deep behind you, like curious children, when you went to shop," said the wife of Gov. William Milliken. At one drugstore, a small group of delighted Chinese sawkers tittered when the salesman had to demonstrate a complicatedly packaged cosmetic to Mrs. Milliken and other American shoppers with her. She was one of 18 American women who toured factories, schools, museums, hospitals, department stores, larms and communes during a 21-day 3,000-mile trip through mainland China. The fourney was sponsored by an American women's group for international Vinderstanding and the women were guests of its Chinese counterpart. Like most tourists, Mrs. Milliken bought souvenirs to bring

She got Milliken a "chop," which is the Chinese confivent of a rubber stamp, although it's doubtful he will use it to sign bills. It's a official seal inscribed with the scaler's name in chinese characters. The one she bought reads "Milliken" to the trained Chinese eye.

She also came home with advice from the governor of Shansi province, whose job, she said, is much like Milliken's except his state has three million more people than Michigan.

"He told us that every year he goes out for a month to work with the peasants in the fields," Mrs. Milliken said. "He told 'Then I know what the needs of the people really are. She paused and laughed, "I haven't lold my husband about

She also got four Chinese meters, or four and one-half American yards, of tissue-thin silk, which will become a dress in the hands of a seamstress. Though Mrs. Milliken sews, she said she will leave this precious material in professional care. The bright silk has an enticing tea aroma because it was packed in the same box with tea she brought back. It is the same kind of tea she drank from delicate porcelain mugs in hotels, restaurants and meetings all along the route.

Despite language and culture barriers, sales cierks were Almost as striking and welcome a difference was the lack of billboards and litter, she added.

"Finally I asked if there were any churches in China and the guides said there is freedom of religon but most Chinese people do not believe in God. Then they would smile, and that's all you got.'

An environmentalist and member of a national population control group, Mrs. Milliken said she was impressed by the apparent Chinese conviction that the number of children is to be limited, marriage is to be late, and birth control clinics are to be abundant, even in factories.

Allstate, Ex-GM Official Working To Outdo Detroit

DETROIT (AP) - Allstate Insurance Co. said Tuesday it has teamed up with a former General Motors executive to show it can outdo Detroit by developing lightweight sports car with advanced safety features.

A company spokesman said the project is intended to serve as a demonstraton only, and there are no plans to mass produce or market such a vehicle.

The company, in its apparent swipe at the auto industry, said it is working with the John Z. De Lórean Corp. to produce three protetypes of the two-seater. age" plastic body.

Archie R. Boc, chairman of Allstate, which is owned by retailing giant Sears Roebuck and Co., said the project was prompted by the spiraling cost of car insurance, adding the nation's auto makers are partly responsible for increasing "Inflation and automobile design are two of the major causes," added Boe.

Allstate also said the project would show how safety improvements could be incor porated into the small, lightweight cars planned by Detroit for the 1980s.

De Lorean, whose design and consulting firm holds the right to the plastic material being used for the car, said he began the project on his own two years ago and was joined by Allstate last December. He said the pro-totypes will be finished next

De Lorean said he began the project in part to promote the plastic body material, which he hapes to sell to the car makers.

He said the plastic is as strong as steel but much lighter, thus allowing for improved fuel economy. And although it is a petroleum-based product, requires less energy to produce than steel, he added.

Allstate and De Lorean said the vehicle is targeted for a 2,200-pound weight class lighter than today's subcompacts - with fuel economy rated at about 30 miles per gallon of gasoline on the federal government's highway test and 20 m.p.g. on the city test.

Bangor Completes Town Hall Sale

BANGOR - Bangor township board has received $15,000 from Bangor city for the townshin's share of the town ball, thus ending periodic negotiations that started in 1968.

The 40-year-old building was built by the township and the then village of Bangor in 1935 but fell within city limits when the village was incorporated in

Sale of the township's share of the building has been discussed periodically since then.

In other areas, Hessey announced that federal funds will pay for replacement of two culverts washed out during the spring flooding. The culverts will be installed on CR-378 and on 66th street, he said.

The board adopted a federal flood control map as presented by the federal department of Housing and Urban Development. Adoption of the map makes township residents cligible for federal flood insurance, township officials said.

The board also said Fred Reinhardt Jr. of Bangor will present his bid for a contract to clean out Kraft drain on School Section lake Others may also bid on the work, they said.

THE HONEYWELL CHRONOTHERM AUTOMATIC CLOCK THERMOSTAT

THE ANSWER FOR YOUR CONCERN

Since time began, night has brought lowered temperatures for pleasant, cool, refreshing sleep. But in many homes, this natural cycle has been neglected, or perhaps windows have been opened to dispose of excess heat ... a wasteful practice.

The Honeywell Chronotherm clock thermostat helps you save fuel - and money - while still enjoying total home heating comfort. With the Chronotherm replacing your conventional thermostat, you set one temperature for days, a lower temperature for nights, and set the clock for the time each change is to occur. The Fuel Saver lowers heat at bedtime and raises it each morning ... automatically.

THE PLEASANT, NATURAL WAY TO SAVE MONEY

Although the Chronotherm is recognized for excellence in comfort performance, it definitely is not a luxury ... it's a Fuel Saver! When fuel savings are considered in relation to Chronotherm cost, only the very rich (or those who don't care about energy waste) can afford to be without it.

INSULATION

In addition to the fuel-saving Chronotherm, proper insulation can also save you money on your gas bills while conserving energy, too! Call us today for details.

Associated Press Writer NEW YORK (AP) — To some she's "super stew" - blonde, eyelash-batting beauty who captivated television Watergate viewers. But as she talks quietly of baking bread and having babies she seems more like "just plain Mo."

believes it looks better on paper than it would be in reality. She says she has not seriously considered getting a -job because she doesn't know what she could do and would rather
